As an investor, you should be looking at the debt:equity ratio of the company. Debt:Equity ratio = long term liabilities / owner's equity. For example,

CONSOLIDATED OR COMPANY ACCOUNTS? For accounting purposes, companies are treated as being part of the same group when they are all ultimately owned and controlled by the same source, and are run as if they were a single economic entity. As shown in section 2.5, the parent company of the Yorkshire Water group is Kelda Holdings Limited. That is owned by four different shareholders - banks and investment companies that have separate economic interests and sources of control.

Interpreting the Income Statement Like a balance sheet, an income statement is a means for measuring a company's financial performance. Some of the ratios discussed draw data from both the income statement and the balance sheet. These examples continue using the published data from Target for the calculations.
