I think a lot of times our experiences become our lies and our lies become our cages. The biggest lie is my standing with Christ — my standing with The Father. There are things that can trigger it, emotional experiences that can trigger it. Weight that I put on myself at times, unrealistic expectations that would say that now God's mad at me, or now God can't forgive me.

The Lies We Believe. The people who brought Vladimir Putin from St. Petersburg to Moscow never cared about his credentials as a specialist in developing business. For them he was an expert in controlling business. All the time Putin worked in St. Petersburg, he played an official role as deputy mayor and chairman of the Committee [for Foreign Liaison], but, behind the scenes Mr. Putin operated in his most important identity — the Case Officer.

The Lies we Believe, written by T.K. Chapin, is a challenging story for parents. This book, as with all of Chapin's books, is a Christian fiction...always inspirational and this one adds the suspense element that some of the other Chapin books do not. The Lies We Believe takes what could be anyone's family and writes a script for disaster.
